Allegra has a broad litigation practice. Working with the firm's Antitrust, Commercial Litigation, and Class Action practice groups, Allegra's experience includes handling research, discovery, and drafting motions and memoranda of law.

Allegra received her J.D. from Georgetown University Law Center and her Bachelor of Arts in political science, summa cum laude, from the University of Central Florida. While in law school, Allegra was a staff member of the American Criminal Law Review. She was also a student attorney in the Communications and Technology Law Clinic where she was represented nonprofit organizations working to adopt, enforce, and defend laws and policy that promote the use of technologies to serve the public interest. She was awarded the Dean's Certificate for her outstanding work for the Georgetown Law community, including co-chairing the annual Home Court game that benefited the Washington Legal Clinic for the Homeless. In 2018, she was a summer associate for the firm. Prior to this, she was a legal intern for the Coca-Cola Company, working on projects to empower suppliers to avoid human rights violations.
