Cozen O'Connor Public Strategies, in collaboration with City & State PA and Jefferson University, presents On Diversity, an event to discuss new initiatives for and issues facing Minority and Women-Owned Businesses (MWBEs) in our economy.

The program will begin with a networking lunch, to be followed by a keynote speech from Governor Tom Wolf. Following the keynote, two panels will discuss the challenges and opportunities facing MWBEs businesses at the local and state level. Current panelists include:

- Nolan Atkinson, Chief Diversity Officer for the City of Philadelphia
- Mary Stitt, Deputy Diversity and Inclusion Officer for the City of Philadelphia
- Ryan N. Boyer, Business Manager for the Laborers' District Council
- Councilwoman Maria Quiñones-Sánchez. Councilwoman for the City of Philadelphia's 7th District
- Kerry Kirkland, State Deputy Secretary for Diversity, Inclusion and Small Business Opportunities
- Valarie Cofield, CEO for Eastern Minority Supplier Development Council
