Jim Schultz, chair of Cozen O'Connor's Government & Regulatory practice group, and Jerry Kilgore, a member of the firm's State Attorneys General practice group, will be speaking at this event in Chicago. SuperConference 2018 delivers the key insights and practical solutions today's general counsel need to manage and better leverage C-Suite relationships, prevent/mitigate the risks of a cyber attack, successfully overcome a litigation crisis, do more with fewer resources, and much more.

Jim will join a panel discussion titled "Regulatory Updates & Impacts from the First Year of the New Administration." This session will cover regulatory changes such as Obamacare, the National Labor Relations Board, foreign trade compliance, outsourcing, and more. In-house counsel will weigh in on how these changes are impacting their businesses and what they are expecting going forward.

Jerry will be speaking on a panel titled "The GC Up-At-Night Index: Benchmarking Across the Fortune 1000 on Strategic Priorities, Investments & Targets." What's keeping GCs up at night? With the role of the GC expanding to encompass more strategic leadership across the organization and collaboration with the C-suite, corporate counsels are concerned with driving business more than ever. This session will explore how GCs and corporate counsel are dealing with the most pressing challenges their organizations are facing.
