The American Gas Association is holding its 2013 Legal Forum in Newport, R.I. The forum will take place from July 14 - July 16 at the Newport Marriott. This year's forum will include a presentation from Ira Megdal of the Utility, Environmental & Energy Practice Group. Megdal's panel is titled "Recovery Mechanisms for Unusual Events: Why the Base Rate Case Model May Not Fit".

The American Gas Association Legal Forum is a two-day, detail oriented seminar that gives participants and attendees the chance for in-depth discussions regarding gas industry issues. Additional member company general counsel and senior attorneys will be present to examine the topics.
