David Reichenberg will moderate an American Bar Association Section of Antitrust panel discussing the major portions of a trial including, jury selection, openings, examinations, and closings as well as offer insights on how to prepare for these in an antitrust case specifically. David will be joined by William Isaacson, attorney at Boies Schiller Flexner LLP, and Richard Parker, attorney Gibson Dunn & Critcher LLP. The speakers are experienced antitrust litigators and have practical examples to share from their cases. This is a great educational program for young lawyers as well as more experienced practitioners who have limited trial experience.
