

Intellectual Property Department Recognized by World Trademark Review 2019

Thursday, February 7, 2019

Cozen O'Connor's Intellectual Property Department was recently ranked by World Trademark Review 1000. According to the publication, Cozen O'Connor scores a 10 out of 10 from clients, as one espouses: "We struggled along with several other high-profile service providers but failed to find consistent and reliable representation and the level of responsive we'd like – that was until we asked Cozen O'Connor to take the reins."

WTR 1000 also recognized the department's co-chair, Camille Miller, for her work in building relationships with clients saying she "has a very close-knit and effective group with the critical mass to handle very complicated and time-sensitive matters. Camille and her team are devoted, thorough, creative, and service-minded and represent tremendous value for money. Camille stays on top of issues and keeps her clients up to date and informed. She offers sound and strategically clever ideas and is just a wonderful individual personally and professionally." Camille "leads by example, producing excellent results for Beachbody, Celgene, and Endo Pharmaceuticals, all of which instruct her on myriad trademark and IP matters." Patrick Gallagher was also recognized and described as "extremely bright and really up on everything happening in trademark law, which makes him great to use as a sounding board."

Camille concentrates her practice in all aspects of intellectual property, specifically trademark, trade dress, copyright, unfair competition, cybersecurity and data breaches, right of privacy, right of publicity, domain names, counterfeiting, licensing, trade secret, and franchising law, as well as all areas of intellectual property litigation, including patent, trademark, and copyright. She is a member of the firm's Management Committee and a member of the firm's Board of Directors.

Patrick concentrates his practice on trademark and copyright issues, as well as other intellectual property matters. He has extensive experience in trademark clearance, investigation, prosecution, client counseling, and management of domestic and international trademark portfolios on behalf of clients of all sizes in a wide variety of industries. Patrick's practice also focuses on trademark enforcement; trademark opposition and cancellation proceedings; trademark, unfair competition, and false advertising disputes and litigation; internet domain name disputes and proceedings; and trademark licensing.

Cozen O'Connor's Intellectual Property Department ranks among top trademark firms in the country. Our team of IP attorneys manage multimillion-dollar trademark portfolios and register thousands of domestic and international trademarks each year. Cozen O'Connor's intellectual property attorneys conduct initial searches, file registrations, defend against objections, negotiate settlement agreements, record customs registrations, monitor unauthorized use, notify regulatory agencies, issues take-down notices and handle resulting litigation. We work with all types of intellectual property: trademarks, trade names, domain names, service marks, copyrights, patents, trade secrets, and rights of publicity and privacy.

About World Trademark Review 1000

The World Trademark Review 1000 is determined by a four-month research period with hundreds of lawyers, attorneys, and their clients involved with trademarks. Research is done with face-to-face and telephone interviews and exchanged correspondence, along with written submissions from firms detailing their recent activity in the field. Firms qualify for a listing on the basis of their depth of expertise, market presence and the level of work on which they are typically instructed. The WTR 1000
