

What Can Advisors Learn from the Stan Lee Elder Abuse Allegations?

Thursday, June 21, 2018

Amanda DiChello, a member in the firm's Private Client Services Practice, is quoted in a wealthmanagement.com article discussing financial elder abuse and ways in which advisers can help prevent it in light of Marvel Comics legend Stan Lee's fraud and elder abuse allegations against his former business manager. According to Amanda, estate planners should be vigilant, although it can be difficult to notice red flags, such as signs of isolation, limited communication, and sudden changes in documents or long-standing advisers. Another preemptive measure could come through legislation.

"Legislators are taking notice and making changes to power of attorney statutes and other related elder abuse laws in order to curb both financial and physical elder abuse," said Amanda.

To read the full article, click here.

Amanda DiChello
Member

adichello@cozen.com
Phone (215) 665-4664
Fax (215) 665-2013

Related Practice Areas

- Private Client, Trusts and Estates