

Cherry Hill

Cozen O'Connor has enjoyed an active New Jersey practice for more than 30 years opening its first New Jersey office in 1988. Our Cherry Hill office has 12 resident attorneys and regularly draws support from other firm attorneys who are admitted to practice in New Jersey but are resident in our Philadelphia office 10 miles away.

The office maintains an active litigation practice serving the federal courts in Camden, Trenton and Newark and state courts throughout New Jersey. Its location is just a short drive from the federal courthouses in Camden and Trenton and the state courthouses in Camden, Burlington, and Gloucester counties.

Our Cherry Hill office attorneys provide a wide range of services including business law, tax and corporate advice, real estate transactions and development applications, estate planning and administration, bankruptcy, commercial litigation, insurance coverage, and defense litigation. Several attorneys in the firm's Energy, Environmental, and Public Utilities Practice Group and the Climate Change practice area are resident in the Cherry Hill office handling all manners of environmental, renewable energy, green building, and utility matters.

The client base of the Cherry Hill office is diverse and includes many individuals, small corporations, medical practices, developers, national and regional insurance companies, and utilities.
