

Bryan Mosca Discusses Increasing Role of State AGs in Employment Law Enforcement

Friday, December 6, 2019

On December 6, Bryan Mosca, a member of the State Attorneys General Practice, participated in a panel together with labor industry experts from Harvard Law, Chicago-Kent College of Law, and the Arise Worker Center at the Institute for Law and the Workplace Employment Law Conference in Chicago. They discussed the topic of New Enforcers in the Workplace: The Increasing Role of State Attorneys General in Employment Law Enforcement. Read more, here.

Related Practice Areas

- State Attorneys General