

Cozen O'Connor's White Collar Defense & Investigations Practice Named to Global Investigation Review's 2019 GIR 100 List

Friday, October 25, 2019

WASHINGTON, D.C., October 25, 2019 — Global Investigation Review (GIR) unveiled its 2019 list of the top global investigations practices and named Cozen O'Connor's White Collar Defense & Investigations Practice to its GIR 100 list for the fourth year in a row. GIR 100 is an annual guide to the world's leading investigations practices. Based on extensive research, GIR selects 100 firms from around the world that are best able to handle sophisticated cross-border investigations, both government-facing and internal ones.

Cozen O'Connor's White Collar Defense & Investigations group represents individuals, public and private companies, corporate boards, and special committees in the full range of white collar issues. The group works with clients to conduct internal investigations, implement compliance solutions, and navigate government investigations. The practice has a carefully assembled group of attorneys with decades of experience on both the prosecutorial and defense sides, including a former federal public defender and several former U.S. federal and state prosecutors and officials, many who have served within the U.S. Department of Justice, the Securities and Exchange Commission, and other key investigative and prosecutorial arms of the government.

GIR is the leading destination for international investigations news and analysis. Through its flagship magazine, data tools, book series, and daily digital content published online, GIR delivers the latest news, analysis, and events on the law and practice of cross-border investigations.
