

Psychiatrists start support line for doctors fighting coronavirus

Thursday, May 7, 2020

Greg Fliszar and a group of psychiatrists launched the Physician Support Line to help doctors deal with the stress of combating the coronavirus crisis, with more than 600 people now volunteering in shifts to help.

Related Practice Areas

- Coronavirus Task Force
- Health Care