

Cozen O'Connor's Melinda Rudolph named a 2017 "Women of Distinction" by the Philadelphia Business Journal

Thursday, November 2, 2017

Philadelphia, November 2, 2017- Melinda Rudolph, a member of Cozen O'Connor's Corporate Practice Group, has been selected as a 2017 Women of Distinction by the Philadelphia Business Journal. Rudolph is one of 30 businesswomen selected from the Philadelphia region for making a difference in their communities and leaving a mark on Philadelphia business.

Rudolph is a nationally known corporate life sciences attorney who represents biomedical and biotechnology companies in complex commercial matters and plays a critical role in shaping the legal norms that now guide the industry.

Rudolph is an advocate for the autism community and helped drive and secure funding for the young autism program, an educational program for high-functioning kids on the autism spectrum, at the Y.A.L.E. School in Cherry Hill. As a trailblazer in male-dominated fields, she also mentors young female attorneys and helps them achieve professional and personal success.

About Cozen O'Connor

Established in 1970 and ranked among the top 100 law firms in America, Cozen O'Connor has more than 750 attorneys who help clients manage risk and make better business decisions. The firm counsels clients on their most sophisticated legal matters in all areas of the law, including litigation, corporate, and regulatory law. Representing a broad array of leading global corporations and middle market companies, Cozen O'Connor services its clients' needs through 26 offices across two continents.

###

Related Practice Areas

- Business/Corporate
- Corporate

Industry Sectors

- Health Care & Life Sciences